THE REMARKABLE ROMANCE OF AN INDUSTRIAL DICTATOR

Velvet and Steel

By
PEARL BELLAIRS

John Denby of humble origin, is introduced as a social equal of Miss La Fontaine, rather than as her secretary, who forces his attention on her. Lord Edwards proposes to Jean.

John leaves Miss La Fontaine to become a manœuvre at the Indian Club. Five Hanners take Jean and her family for a cruise aboard his yacht.

"Hello sonny!" he said with a laugh, to Jimmy, who was growling and turning up his eyes. "You've got it badly."

"You said you might be able to do something," Jean reminded him. "It's a conjuring trick, really," said Hanner. "I've never known it to fail. The idea is to sneeze violently, and go on sneezing."

Trusting Jimmy watched the big man while he rolled a piece of paper and twisted it until it looked like a piece of string. When this was Hanner sat down on the edge of the narrow berth which Jimmy thought the most luxurious couch imaginable.

"It won't hurt!" he said. He poked the piece of paper up Jimmy's nostril, and Jimmy, instead of whimpering, began to laugh. Then he sneezed violently, and went on sneezing when the process was repeated. To Jean's astonishment he looked much better afterwards, and after a last sneeze, he smiled all over his face.

"Is that better?" she asked the boy.

"I don't feel near so bad," said Jimmy.

Ben, who was watching the performance, had another piece of paper rolled for him; and after sneezing came out of the operation giggling feebly.

"Good!" said Hanner. He sat on the edge of Ben's berth, while Jean sat on the one that was to be Mr. Denby's, facing him.

HOW TO AVOID ILLNESS

Wisconsin is a delicious wine, not a drug. In each bottle there are all the nourishing elements of 25 lbs. of grapes added to the strengthening elements of beef and guaranteed malt extracts.

These elements in Wisconsin will quickly restore lost energy. They will help you to sleep, give you awakening and active, enjoyable days. Drink this delicious wine regularly three times each day, and soon you will drop from your shoulders.

THE COLOUR GUARANTEES THE QUALITY

"You're looking rather green," he remarked, and began to twist a third piece of paper.

Feeling definitely rather sick Jean sat and watched him do it, wondering whether he proposed to use it on her; he looked enormous, with his square shoulders, in the low-roofed cabin; smiling faintly, he glanced up from his task and she could see that he knew exactly what she was thinking.

When he rose, instinctively she flinched away from him; but he merely put the paper spill into her hand, politely, with one eyebrow raised in mockery, and went out of the cabin.

Lying on the creaking silk of the soft blue elderdown on the berth, Jean sneezed and sneezed and felt better. Her head cleared after it. The effect was lasting, for Jimmy and Ben began tickling their noses to make themselves sneeze, just for fun. Instead of sneezing they were laughing and shouting until they fell out over the question as to which should have the paper, for Hanner had thrown the other two pieces out of the porthole.

Next day was fine, though there was a choppy sea, but this gleamed like a sapphire under a brilliant sun. Jean began to be glad that she had come; she still found herself obliged to converse with Hanner in order to preserve their contact when the others were about; it was this was compensated for by the fact that they were never alone.

Maude had taken a great fancy to Captain Ansett, who was smart blue uniform attracted her; she could not wear blue with gold braid and a white-topped cap, as the people did in the photographs she had seen of yachtsmen at C. P. Jean explained that people who had every advantage in life, whose social position was nothing to them because no one disputed it, very often did not trouble about things like that. She told Maude about a very shabby Duke whom she had once met while in Miss La Fontaine's company. "His clothes were quite as old as father's are, only he had paid more for them in the beginning."

It seemed to Jean that the voyage was not proving nearly as terrible as she had feared. As she was never alone with Hanner she was safe from him, except for an occasional pointed remark in the course of general conversation, which she knew was meant for her.

She discovered, too, that Captain Ansett rather liked her; and since Hanner had insisted on her coming against her inclination, and since she felt she owed nothing to him in consequence, she was nice to Captain Ansett, whom she liked.

The coast of Spain, with the distant mountains, drifted away on the horizon as the Corsair cruised steadily southward into warmer climes; the days passed quietly, and the voyage seemed unreal as a dream.

But soon, all too soon, it seemed to Jean, they were on the look out for their first glimpse of Gibraltar; in the afternoon it appeared, standing up like the back of a great beast in the calm blue sea.

At sunset they were lying off Tangiers, glimmering white in the sweep of golden coloured hills; a strange place, indeed, with its Moorish domes, to Maude, who had never seen anything but London.

"My word!" said Maude, in the evening stillness, as they stood at the rail of the now little yacht. "Is that where the sea lives?"

"A sea," y Maude you can see," said Hanner.

"Oh, go on!" said Maude. "I'll bet there isn't a peck in all Africa—that's only a book-yarn!"

Removing Causes The Only Remedy

Slums Cannot be Removed by Merely Removing the Buildings

Hamilton.—The remedy for the modern slum is not only the replacement of wretched dwellings by better ones, but the removal of causes that inevitably lead to slum conditions. So long as a large portion of the community is maintained on relief, or on wages that are little better than that, slum conditions will develop, for, almost invariably, the first factor to suffer in conditions of poverty is the house in which the poor are sheltered. As these causes have their roots in the realm of the spiritual, it is, therefore imperative that the church use its energy and influence to have them removed.

This statement of Prof. John Line, of Emmanuel College, before a record meeting here, evoked a keen and animated discussion. Prof. Line is leading an intensive study of the report of the General Council of the United Church on Christianizing the Social Order.

The speaker treated in some detail the achievements and defects of modern industry. He pointed out that the development of machinery and the factory system during the past two centuries had transformed society from an era of scarcity to one of plenty and had released men and women from long hours of exhausting drudgery.

"Growing capacity for co-operation and marvelous development in communications have facilitated a conquest of the earth in its material aspects, such as was never previously achieved," he said.

"Despite all this, however, we are today confronted with a new fact—dire want in the midst of plenty. Production has been restricted and goods destroyed for the purpose of raising prices."

"In the presence of such fear, insecurity and inequality, the pursuit of higher interests becomes difficult, and 'stunted minds and stunted characters' ensue. Individualism, materialism and a competitive system are crowding out growth toward wider co-operation and world brotherhood."

What's the Matter With Marriage?

Clergyman Tells All—Giving
Faults of Both Husbands and Wives

PHILADELPHIA.—The Rev. Ivan H. Hagadorn, pastor of the Bethel Lutheran Church, answers his own question of "What's the trouble with men and women in modern marriage?"

The trouble with men, he told a meeting of couples he has married, is:

1. They are impatient.
2. They are lazy.
3. They are skeptical.
4. They never seem to adjust themselves to the new status of women.
5. They are conceited.
6. They have a mean streak of taking for granted the constancy of their wives.
7. They are unworldly of little things.
8. They are too easily run into a mould—a mould that won't keep shape.

Of women, he said: 1. They are too fond of regulating men. 2. They have no sense of humor. 3. They are possessive. 4. They are argumentative. 5. They are sensitive and touchy. 6. They whine. 7. They often possess the creep-hanging impulse. 8. They do not keep abreast of the times.

In conclusion, Mr. Hagadorn urged men to "marry by all means. If you get a good wife, you will become very happy. If you get a bad one, you will become a philosopher."

Be Thankful

Too many of us are blinded by little setbacks—thinking only of the misfortunes that seem to keep overtaking us, and not of the good things, which we take quite as a matter of course.

In other words, are you grateful enough that it is not worse? There are comparatively few who could not be thankful for something. Lives might be much brighter if consideration were given to the sunshine of life instead of dwelling what can't be helped.

Don't you have many things in your life that others have not, and would enjoy?

Yes, there are many worse off than you are. You have but to look around. These others are victims of circumstances; have the same troubles that you have, and possibly more.

If you have health, you should be thankful. Health is the greatest blessing. Don't brood over your fate when you are well.

FAITHFUL DOG STILL ON JOB

But "Rikie" Moves Slower
After 11 Years of Standing Guard

Winnipeg.—Mary's little lamb followed her to school one day. But Miss Joan Aitken, dog kept it up. For 11 years faithful "Rikie" has followed Miss Aitken to her work in the Manitoba legislative building, waited around until she was finished in the evening and then escorted her home.

The big ardeale is getting a bit stiff now. It is becoming more difficult for him to trot the two miles from Miss Aitken's home to the Parliament buildings.

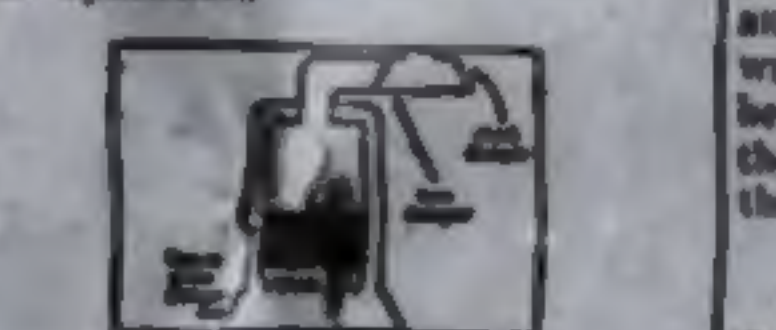

And more and more, "Rikie" is showing a disposition to sleep during the hours of waiting, relaxing just a little the guard he keeps over His Majesty's mail in the provincial post office where he spends his time from 9 a.m. to 5 o'clock.

Ever since he was seven months old "Rikie" has escorted Miss Aitken to and from her place of employment. He leaves her at the east entrance to the building, trots down to the post office in the basement and then, sharp at 5, is waiting outside the door.

There was a time when a parcel came through the mail for "Rikie," addressed simply "Rikie." Post office employees knew where to deliver it. When it was opened out fell one good dog biscuit.

HEATING HINTS By James Stewart

HERE'S a suggestion for getting up best quickly on cold mornings: First, shake the grate gently until the first red glow appears in the ashes. Then open the Ashpit Damper and let the fire burn brightly. Ordinarily it will not be necessary to put on fresh fuel as there should be enough left from the night before. If some fuel is needed just put on a thin layer at first. Then when the fire is burning brightly and the house is warm add a full charge of coal and set the damper for normal operation.

If at any time the fire gets very low so that it is barely out, do not smother it with a full charge of fuel. Open the Ashpit Damper, close the Check Damper and add small quantities of fuel at a time. Then when the fire is again burning brightly, gently shake the grate and add a full charge of fuel.

"THE CLUE OF THE RISING MOON," by Valentine Williams (Munson's, Toronto), is one of Mr. Williams' best mystery thrillers. The suspects are cleverly dispersed and it is not until the very last chapter that the murderer is revealed. Too, the explanation of what took place is logically explained, which is always eminently satisfying in all Valentine Williams' books.

"THE UNCROWNED KING," by Baroness Orczy, (Munson's, Toronto) author of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," is a writer of romantic tales, well-prepared with adventure and action.

Lois XIX, the uncrowned King of France, Veronique Christopher, the millionaire's daughter, Cyril Herbrand, half-brother to the Prince of the Bourbon's, and bearing a strong family resemblance, Aline Saint-Armand, ambitious young actress, but truly loving Louis XIX—these are some of the principals of this tale who act, move and have their being in the best Baroness Orczy style.

"THE WEDDING," by Deane MacKail, (Munson's, Toronto) is a book all married folk will enjoy, whether they had a big splash when they walked up the aisle or whether it was a quiet affair—the emotions, worries, mishaps are all there. You are introduced to every member participating in a big racial wedding, and at the end of the book, so well-written it is, that you feel you have been present and you definitely feel the urge to wish the bride and groom the best of luck!

"BUNBINE STEALER," by Berta Rock, (Munson's), is a romantic story of one Carmen Allen and Jim Travers. Carmen, of Spanish and English blood, is a lovely orphan in London. She finds a wallet containing fifty pounds. Yielding to the power of advertising—a cruise in sunny waters—she buys a ticket. And then her troubles begin. Jim Travers, detective, has also felt the urge to escape London fog. There you have a situation that only Berta Rock could unravel to a satisfactory conclusion.

"THE SHINING CLOUD," by Marg. Podler, (Munson's) introduces Gillian Kennedy and her brother Ronale at the moment of their father's death, when they discover they have been left penniless. They rise boldly to the occasion and secure a position as host and hostess at a resort hotel. Gillian, attractive and impetive, meets and falls in love with a re-

SMALL-TOWN EDITOR SCOOPS CITY CHAPS

From the Roun Press

So many readers have rung up to ask how it was the Press was able to secure an interview last week with Lord Rothermere, when even the leading metropolitan dailies were reporting that the visiting newspaper magnate was firmly refusing to say anything for publication, that while, at the time, we considered the incident purely a part of the regular routine, we are now quite puffed up about it and inclined to strut a bit.

Just how it came about that the Press was able to "scoop" its contemporaries in this instance we are frankly unable to say with certainty. For all we know, it may have been merely whim on the part of the distinguished English visitor that prompted him to single out the Press for favor. The Ottawa Journal and other papers frankly confessed they had been unable to secure an interview with his lordship. Even at Timmins, where the entire party was taken on a tour of the local newspaper plants under the wing of the general manager of the Hollinger Mines, neither paper seems to have got anything out of his lordship worth reporting.

Not that we are prepared to chide any of them for their lack of luck or enterprise. While we have long recognized that a newspaper never gets very far if it takes "No" for an answer from private secretaries and others whose duty it is to protect their chiefs from the imperiousness of reporters, we also recognize that when a man of Lord Rothermere's temperament declines to talk there is no journalist living who can make him.

In our own case we were well aware of the fact that Harold Harcourt's reputation as a difficult man to interview, and with that in mind decided to impose upon the good nature of H. L. Russell, general manager of Noranda Mines, with whom we knew the party was dining.

Telephoning our wishes to Mr. Russell, that ever-courteous gentleman said he would see what could be done about it. Thereupon the Press went home, put on its best bit and tuck, and goose grease in its hair, and camped by the side of the telephone on the chance of a possible invitation to join the visiting celebrities and their host in their post-prandial cigars.

That invitation being not forthcoming after the space of about three hours, resources were again made to the telephone, and this time Mr. Russell advised that he had conveyed our wishes to Lord Rothermere, who would send a representative of the paper at his private car in the morning. That being settled, the Press got back into its working clothes, regulated the breakfast fire and went to bed with a cheerful spirit.

Bright and early in the morning with the thumb marks carefully erased from its remaining cards de visis, the Press presented itself at the portal of Lord Rothermere's private car, where it was given a warm welcome, introduced to the various members of the vicount's suite, invited to draw up a chair and say what it had on its mind. Not only that, but a 20-minute chat falling to clean up all the questions and answers before his lordship had to keep another engagement. At the Press was extended a cordial invitation to lunch and to talk of less mundane affairs, an invitation which had regretfully to be declined because of the imminence of the paper's "dead line," as explained last week.

Easiest to Interview

While on the subject of interviews it might be said that it is the experience of the Press staff over a long period of years in which they have had occasion to talk with prophets, priests and kings, not to mention presidents, ministers and pugilists, that it is the most important people who are easiest to interview. It is from the post-homes politicians and "fish and chips" capitalist that the newspaperman gets most of his rebuffs.

Only a few days ago we had occasion to seek information from a small-time mining man who used to manage a property in the vicinity of Rouny and who now makes his headquarters in the Ames area. Notwithstanding the fact that, when he is working, he is employed by companies who seek financial support from the general public, who are entitled to know something about his activities, all we succeeded in getting from him was a string of oaths that would have shocked a Millington fish porter.

He was an exception, however. On the whole the mining men, both the prospectors and the technically trained engineers and geologists, are always ready to give the newspaperman a kindly hearing.

But even when the reporter's victim refuses to talk, one can generally manage to get a story out of him. Recently the Press put together three-quarters of a column of quite readable copy at the expense of visiting officials of the civil aviation branch of the Department of Stational Defence who seemingly had been deprived of their power of speech.

The Week's News of The Surrounding District

BEAMSVILLE

In regular session Friday night the board of education received the full term report of the public school inspector. In part he said, "The new teachers seem to be working hard, and give evidence that they will succeed. Classes are making satisfactory progress and are well up in their work. Discipline is quite satisfactory. The premises are in good condition. The rooms are not sufficiently lighted for dark days; the lamps are not of sufficient strength. The attendance has not been satisfactory. Certain pupils are allowed to be out of school without proper excuse and without permit as required by the Attendance act. This condition should be remedied."

"The attendance officer should have the support of the board to enforce the standard of attendance at this school."

The question of whether the next term of school work should begin on January 3 or 4 was left to a committee. If other county schools follow the January 6 opening the local schools will follow suit. A stormy discussion centered about the abandonment of the yearly high school commencement activities this month and the board finally decided to call a special meeting on Monday evening to discuss the matter with Principal A. D.

Word has been received here that F. E. Jordan, a former resident, died after a long illness this week at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. W. Macdett, in Hybla, Ontario.

Under the auspices of the local branch representatives of county Women's Institutes were present Friday night at a most enjoyable banquet held in the lecture room of Wesley United church. About 125 enjoyed an entertaining program of music and speeches.

Fire, caused by an overheated stove, did small damage in Ingelhart and Gladhill's garage on Wednesday night. When it was first discovered, a call was sent to Captain Stan Gibson of the fire department and he investigated. Captain Gibson extinguished the fire around the stove with small extinguishers but when he found a partition in the upstairs section of the building smoldering he sent in a general alarm. The damage was limited to about $15 or $20.

During the time that Constable Don Hoffman of Niagara Falls is off with injuries suffered in a recent accident, Constable Darcy will patrol highway No. 8 from Beamsville to Niagara Falls, while Constable Ed Jess of Cloney Creek will patrol between Hamilton and Beamsville.

Beamsville High school's senior boys' basketball team were crowned Thursday when they made up for the loss they suffered on Monday night by beating Grimsby High school's crew 24-12.

SMITHVILLE

The annual bazaar and supper of the Anglican church was held in the parish hall Thursday afternoon and evening. Cards were played the prize winners being: Ladies, Mrs. G. Hardman, Mrs. C. Fogg; men, W. Tyler, R. Tyler.

The annual meeting of the United church Ladies Aid was held at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon. The officers were re-elected excepting the president, Mrs. W. G. Henderson, who has been a very capable president for two years but declined office for a third term.

The funeral of the late Allen Potter took place from the residence of his father, William Potter on Wednesday afternoon, with services in Anglican church.

WINONA

The annual bazaar under the auspices of St. John's Women's Auxiliary, held Friday afternoon and evening, was a big success, and a goodly sum was realized.

There was an excellent attendance at the community Fellowship hour last evening held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harrod. W. Carter, of Beamsville, had charge, and brought an inspiring message.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. John's church held their annual meeting and election of officers at the home of Mrs. T. M. Davis on Tuesday afternoon.

VINEMOUNT

The organization meeting of the Vinemount Literary society will be held in the Community hall on Wednesday, December 11, at 8 p.m. Bishop L. W. R. Braggall, of Hamilton, had charge of the service of St. George's church, Tagleytown, on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Bands on a string, an amusing farce, will be presented by the Home and School club in the hall on Friday evening.

GRASSIE

The Grimsby W. I. The November meeting of the Grimsby W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Wilson with an average attendance.

The meeting was opened in the usual way with the president, Mrs. H. Beamer, presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary and adopted; after which the business for the month was discussed.

The roll call was well responded to with "A Low I Am Thankful For," which was followed by a report by Mrs. Sterling re the Lincoln County Women's Institute banquet at Beamsville Community Hall on Friday, December 6th.

The convenor for the meeting, Mrs. F. Black, then took the chair and an interesting program followed, beginning with a humorous reading by Mrs. J. Johnson. Interesting reports of the annual convention at Hamilton were given by Mrs. Henry Hays and Mrs. H. Beamer. This was followed by readings by Miss Alice Hays and Mrs. F. Black. Miss Ruby Wilson gave several guitar selections which were followed by humorous readings by Mrs. Henry Hays and Mrs. L. Jacobs.

A demonstration was given by Mrs. H. Beamer on how to make an economical hand clapper, which was followed by a conversation given by Mrs. Beamer and then by Miss Alice Hays and Mrs. Fred Black.

The meeting was closed in the usual way by the president.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. Black, where there will be an exchange of Christmas gifts, none to exceed 25c. The Roll Call will be "A Little Verse Beginning with the first letter of your Christmas Name."

The Grimsby W. I. sponsored a Home Baking Sale in Theat's Store in Grimsby on Saturday, December 12th.

GET HIGH PRICES FOR GOOD HORSES

Good horses are a valuable asset to farmers in the St. Catharines district and some excellent prices are being paid for ordinary farm and teamster classes. One farmer reports that he received $300 for a four-year-old mare. So few horses are being raised, farmers say, that the price is naturally higher than for some time.

SLOT MACHINES NOT ALLOWED

Parties Playing Machines For Gain, Keeping It On Premises For Playing Purposes And Owners Equally Liable Under Law — Inspector Alvey Issues Statement.

Inspector Chris Alvey, in charge of Ontario Provincial Police in the counties of Lincoln, Welland and Haldimand, has issued a statement regarding the operation of and playing of slot machines outlining the various sections of the Criminal Code covering such devices.

In the event of police action being taken the parties playing the machine for gain, keeping it on their premises for playing purposes and the owner of the machine are equally guilty of breaking the law.

It has been ruled that slot machines are not to be allowed in the district and Inspector Alvey's statement was made with a view of enabling the co-operation of the residents of the counties mentioned in not keeping such devices on their premises and in not playing for gain.

REDUCTIONS IN HYDRO CHARGES

Lower Rates To Rural Power Consumers — Maximum Service Charges Reduced 10 To 20 Per Cent.

Reductions in Hydro charges to rural power consumers were announced Friday by Attorney-General Roebuck in his capacity of Ontario Hydro-Electric power commissioner. The reductions in the maximum charges range from 10 to 20 per cent.

Growth of the contingency fund applicable to rural districts to a point where it needs no further addition and reduction in the amount set aside for the renewal fund, have made the reductions possible, Mr. Roebuck said.

The new rates becoming effective November 5 are:

Household lighting, old rates $1.20, new rates $1.20.
Household lighting, plus range, old rates $2.10, new rates $1.90.
Household lighting, old rates $1.00, new rates $1.00.
Small farm service, old rates $2.10, new rates $1.90.
Light farm service, old rates $3.50, new rates $3.
Medium farm service (one phase), old rates $2.70, new rates $2.35.
Medium farm service (three phase), old rates $3.75, new rates $3.
Heavy farm service (one phase), old rates $4.50, new rates $3.70.
Heavy farm service (three phase), old rates $5.50, new rates $4.25.
Special farm service (one phase), old rates $4.50, new rates $3.50.
Special farm service (three phase), old rates $5.50, new rates $4.70.

Mr. Roebuck said the contingency fund had grown to more than $800,000 in the Niagara system and more than $1,000,000 aggregate in all systems. The only contingency likely to affect the rural districts is some general hurricane, steel or hailstorm and the commission has reached the conclusion the amount now in the fund is sufficient to provide for any contingency. The total borne interest annually equivalent to the average charges made against the fund in recent years.

The amount of the total income from power sales set aside for renewal of equipment has been reduced from two per cent. to 1.75 per cent. This reduction and the elimination of appropriations for contingencies totals about the same as the amount of the reductions, Mr. Roebuck said.

RESTRICT AGE LIMIT

At the 4th annual convention of the Twentieth Century Liberal Association of Ontario held in Toronto a few days ago the resolution was passed restricting the age limit, so that the association may continue as a youth movement. The resolution provides that not over thirty-five years of age eligible for election as the provincial executive.

Wish Earlier Removal of Garbage

Another matter discussed was the removal of garbage along the Main Street business places earlier in the day so that the street would present as neat an appearance as possible. If left too long days disturb the garbage and it is scattered over the sidewalk and road. In order to avoid this it was suggested that it be removed by nine o'clock a.m., the following morning being passed and forwarded to the council for its consideration.

"That garbage placed along Main Street business places be removed by nine o'clock in the morning on day of collection in order that the thoroughfare be as presentable as possible."

Should Slow Down

The tendency of traffic, especially heavy trucks, to move through the town at other than a reasonable speed was the subject of comment, it being pointed out that this led to accidents.

Sponsor Suggestion Box

In order to encourage citizens to come forward with suggestions which would prove beneficial in advancing the interests of the municipality, it was decided to place a suggestion box at a central point in town and it has been installed in The Independent office, Main Street. Citizens are cordially invited to place any proposals and suggestions which they may have in this box and these will be taken up and discussed at meetings of the Association with a view to their presentation to the council or other proper bodies for their consideration and action. The names of the parties offering these suggestions need not accompany the suggestions which they may hand in. The Association would appreciate citizens of the community taking advantage of the suggestion box.

Supper Meeting

The next meeting of the association will be held on the second Tuesday in January and take the form of a supper meeting. The speakers' committee is planning to secure an outstanding public man to address the gathering on that occasion.

CHARGED WITH THEFT FROM INFANTS' HOME

When Adam F. Hunter, teller of the Landed Banking and Loan company, appeared Thursday last in magistrate's court, Hamilton, on a charge of theft of $14,000 from his employers, he will face an additional charge of theft of $4,500 from the Infants' Home, 170 Caroline street south, Hamilton.

Following an audit of the books of the home, begun immediately after the arrest of Mr. Hunter on the first charge, it was discovered that $4,500 in bonds, in which endowment funds had been invested, was missing. Mr. Hunter was treasurer of the Infants' home for the past 12 years.

The 49-year-old teller of the Landed Banking and Loan company has been unable to raise $14,000 bail asked by the crown to cover the alleged theft of $14,000 from the banking and loan company.

co-operation as members of the association. The lists are not yet completed but indications point to a large membership. Matters of vital public interest will be considered from time to time by the association and it is desired to have their assistance in building up this progressive community.

It was decided to call the general meetings in future for 8.30 o'clock.

LANDLORD MAY ASK MONTHLY TENANT TO MOVE ON MONTH'S NOTICE

"There seems to be an impression, which has existed for a long time, that a landlord may not put out a tenant during the winter time," remarked Magistrate James H. Campbell recently in trying a case. "This is erroneous for there is no such law. A landlord may ask a monthly tenant to move on a proper month's notice any time."

Mrs. Elsie Fry had laid a charge against Le Roy Part, her landlord, for shutting off her water, light and heat under the section that a landlord must supply a sufficient quantity of wholesome water. She lives in a Queen street flat.

Part's defence was that he had given the woman, who is on relief, three notices to leave, commencing in September last. She had been in the place two years the 27th of this month.

"You, of course, wanted to get rid of this tenant, so you had a right to do," said his worship.

AUTUMN BEAUTIES

"The most beautiful sight in America," writes Arthur Brisbane from New Jersey, "is the changing colors of autumn foliage on the North Atlantic seaboard." We enter a demure. Those who know the scarlet and orange of Eastern Ontario maples, the red plumes of the sumacs on many a nearby hillside, the rich copper of the beeches in our parks and woodlands, the burnished yellow of countless trees that gild this district into a cloth of gold, will hold that the most beautiful sight in America is the changing of colors of autumn foliage in these parts.—Ottawa Citizen.

"A NATIONAL SHAME"

A movement is afoot to persuade the Government to provide more adequate quarters for the National Gallery in Ottawa. The Herald is heartily in accord with this movement.

Although it does not seem to be widely recognized, the collection of pictures on show in the present National Gallery building is excellent and highly representative of the European and North American schools, ancient and modern. There is, also, a striking array of Canadian paintings, an array which removes any doubts concerning the existence of a truly characteristic Canadian school. But there are, also, stunts, pictures and other works of art, straggled away in vaults, because there is no room for their display.

That these should be permitted to deteriorate in darkness is a national shame.—Hamilton Herald.

THE BRITISH RACE

What a race these Britons are! Samuel Hearne, Foreign Secretary, has a great big man in a big place. Once he completed an airline flight to India and caused Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin to remark: "What with Lord Birkenhead winning diving competitions in Madeira, Les Amery sailing in the most mountainous country in the Alps, and Sam Hearne flying to India, I feel like a circus manager where performing lions have occupied."—St. Catharines Standard.

PRIVATE ROW

Windows man when visiting in Hamilton saw a man and wife fighting and stepped in as peacemaker. He received a beating and was informed it was a family affair. People are strange that way. The husband probably feels he is within his rights in beating his wife, and the wife is probably glad to welcome the chance to lay hands violently on the man of her choice.—Peterboro Examiner.

AN ANNUAL FEST

The mosquitoes and the black flies have long departed but we still have to face the pest who says he doesn't want anything for Christmas.—Toronto Saturday Night.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

A man's beauty parlor has opened in New York, which looks like another symptom of prosperity and wild spending.—Hamilton Spectator.

"LIGHT" BOMBS

The aviator son-in-law of Signor Mussolini gives the world the assurance that "only bombs weighing less than 10 pounds each" are being dropped on Ethiopian towns and villages. It reminds us of the time when an office last summer saying: "We were out yesterday, but only got a little fellow weighing 150 pounds." The person who thinks "light" bombs mean little is a person who has never experienced the explosion of one of them.—Halifax Herald.

ONLY A MILK BOTTLE

A few years ago the writer was astounded when informed by a local dairy manager that bottle replacement was costing him $2,000 yearly. Not all broken, by any means, as milk bottles are used for a multitude of purposes not intended when the bottles are left at the householder's door in the dusk of morning.

Writing on this subject of small wastes that grow to be large ones the Kingston Whig-Standard has this to say:

From the United States Department of Agriculture comes a reminder of the large cost of carelessness in small matters on the part of many people. Its bureau of dairy industry, which has been watching milk bottles for some time, has given cut figures that prove the annual loss in the United States from broken or misplaced bottles at close to $3,000,000. That is what milk bottles cost the dairy industry in the United States. The chances are the loss in Canada is proportionate, or nearly so.

The figure is suggestive of our thoughtless wastefulness on this count by our small regard for little things. It's only a broken milk bottle! Never mind, the dairy furnishes them! How many articles in common use, like the milk bottle, are counted as costing nothing?

Who pays for the loss in milk bottles? Somebody has to stand it. The bottles, the bureau of dairy industry tells us, cost a little over a nickel apiece. The manufacturers get their price for the bottles. The farmers and dairies selling the milk charge back what they can to the consumer and take the rest. Somebody has to pay for the losses of a going concern. There is no profit in waste.—Niagara Falls Review.

THE GIFT OF SLEEP

But to woo sleep it is necessary to relax, and here we come to the crux of the matter. Difficult and not very profitable to it to attempt to sleep when the body is tense. We must learn to relax, and anything that enables us to relax will help us to sleep. Reading in bed aids, providing it is a dull book. One man put himself to sleep with the Encyclopedia Britannica; a minister reports he can not keep awake if he goes over the points of the next sermon.—Hamilton Spectator.

NEED MORE THAN GOOD EYES

There is a wide difference between "seeing" and "observing." A man's eyesight may be perfect and his powers of observation low. To be a really good driver you must be observant because you have to watch the poor driver who is dividing the road with you. It is little satisfaction to know that you had "the right of way" if your car is wrecked by an irresponsible driver who was dead wrong. The good driver is not in a bad way on his rights—he "avoids" accidents.

Speed alone is not the primary factor in accidents, but speed plus carelessness is a disastrous combination. The people who argue for a material reduction in the speed limit have a logical argument. The "speed" should be governed not by what is safe for a good driver, who is in the minority, but by safeguarding the public from the poor driver who is in the great majority.—Toronto Telegram.

MORE THAN TEACHING

There is many an adult today who can thank some lady school teacher for having had a profound influence on him during the years when he was open to receive suggestion. She may have set him out in the school pump to wash his hands and face; she may have shown him to the point where his hair would be brushed and his teeth cleaned, and it may have been the teacher who insisted that the boy should tip his cap when he left the school or any other lady out of school hours.

Actually she was doing a great deal more than teaching things which were set forth in the text books. Possibly the boys in school may have thought at the time the teacher was a "sour old maid," but they know now she was not. Mature judgment has stamped her as a great force and a helpful influence in their lives and as such they will continue to remember her.—Peterboro Examiner.

THE EMPIRE

A LINK WITH THE PAST
Among the many distinguished forebears of the Dukes of Gloucester is one whose name should be known wherever Scottish songs are sung. Yet, how many of the countless numbers who are familiar with "Annie Laurie" remember that the writer of the song as we know it now was Lady John Scott, a great-granddaughter of the Duke of Gloucester.

This song-writer, who lived until the first year of this century, was Miss Alicia Spottiswoods of Spottiswoods, in Berwickshire, and her marriage to the only surviving brother of the fifth Duke of Buccleuch took place in 1838. She was a patriotic Scotswoman, and once declared, "I would rather live in a pigsty in Scotland than in a palace in England." She made a wonderful collection of old Scottish songs for her brother-in-law, the Duke of Buccleuch.—Glasgow Herald.

SCOTLAND YARD TEACHES
Scotland Yard is teaching the how to go about the police work. There are a few countries that have not sent representatives to learn from the Metropolitan Police. Among the next batch of "pupils" will be detectives from New Zealand. Police officers have come from Newfoundland, Hong Kong, Singapore, Canada, Australia, France, Spain, Germany, and other Continental countries to glean much from our methods.

Superintendent Dalley, chief of the fingerprint department, is going to lecture to "pupils" on his subject. Chief Inspector Rowe will demonstrate the Criminal Records Office. The wireless cars and broadcast methods of the "Tard" will be explained by the Radio Chief, Chief Constable East. Sir Bernard Spillbury will give lectures on poisons. Dr. Roche Lynch, the Home Office analyst, will teach his own subject. The value of scientific research—the examination of bullets, cartridges, and clothing—will be shown by Dr. Davidson, chief of the Crime Laboratory at Borden. Finally, there will be special lectures on crime detection by Chief Constable Horwell and Superintendent Hambrook of the C. I. D.—Ottawa Daily Mail.

Designer's Advice To the Over-weight

From Hollywood and the atelier of a rising American designer who is good-looking enough to model her own clothes, comes a warning to the flesh-conscious woman who would be smart though over-weight.

Helen Taylor, who created the thirty-six ensembles for Josephine Hutchinson, Hollywood star, offers ten fashion "don'ts" to color-watchers.

1. Don't ever wear shiny-surfaced fabrics—even if Paris insists you may look like last year's date in flat crepe or dull black.
2. Don't wear a blouse or jacket of one color with a skirt of another. Cut your height at least two inches.
3. Don't fall for tomato red evening slippers when your dinner dress is black. Try black slippers and watch the results.
4. Don't—please—wear huge fur or voluminous collars. Content yourself with small skins worn close to the neck. Reason obvious.
5. Don't affect wide, flaring sleeves or sleeves so wide that they call attention to themselves. Makes you twice as wide.
6. Don't let that crafty millinery clerk talk you into a pill-box hat, even if it does have a fluttering veil. Brims are more becoming to the broader face. AND men prefer it.

1. Don't buy a size sixteen when you wear an eighteen. You are fooling nobody but yourself. A wall-paper fit in clothes adds pounds to your appearance.

2. Don't fasten a large bow on your bosom unless you have the virtues of a leather model. It does terrible things to your silhouette.

3. Don't dangle yourself into thinking that a beauteous necklace will give you a long line from throat to waist. It will only accentuate the width of your shoulders and make your head appear too small for your body.

10. Don't—ever—wear all white. Miss Taylor believes that a designer's greatest hope in creating original ideas in modern costume lies in the development of new fabrics. She uses cellophane velvet, cellophane lace, metallic satins, ribbed satins and rhinestone cloth—all new departures in screen fabrics. She does not, however, feel that these materials should be adopted indiscriminately by the average woman.

"I know what temptation it is to try a new and rich material," she says, "with designers offering each year a dazzling line-up of unusual weaves and silks. But the woman who is overweight must watch her fabrics as closely as her diet. Three yards of rhinestone cloth on the wrong figure can wreck a girl's smartness reputation overnight. An afternoon frock of cellophane which clings to the body like a second skin is a mistake of a perfectly proper kind."

In addition to building complete screen wardrobes for Josephine Hutchinson, Helen Westley, Laura Hope Crews and Mona Barrie, Helen Taylor has created street and screen costumes for such stars as Marie O'Brien, Marlene Dietrich, Marion Davies and Norma Shearer.

"Of all the pestiferous insects that annoy mortal flesh, the education snob is the most detestable."—Harold Bell Wright.

Doctor Approves Women's Scanty Dress

"Women have far more energy and waste far more of it than men," said a doctor of psychology the other day.

"They rush at things in a desire to get them done, and then they have gone the longest way round in the end."

It is very true. It is a feminine failing to plunge at a job without a second thought. It's a masculine failing to think so long over a job to be done that there is not time left to do it.

Why not combine the two. Control your first violent impulses to be up and doing, and, instead, some paper and pencil and work out a sensible program.

Go through an average day's work and see how many times you have duplicated jobs. How many unnecessary trips to store cupboards or shelves. How many unnecessary telephone calls you have made and letters you have written.

No employer would be annoyed if you showed him neatly on paper how you could save your time and his; you might even get an increase of salary for your intelligence.

For Limited Wardrobe

The charming blouse patterned for today is a life saver for limited budget. It's one of those useful blouses in bright crepe silk that fills a dual role. It's simple enough to wear to the office, and then to keep that dinner "note" at any fashionable restaurant.

Simple to sew with sleeves that cut in one with shoulders. It may be "back-in" or overdressed and either neckline.

Style No. 3209 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 30, 32 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for blouse with collar neck.

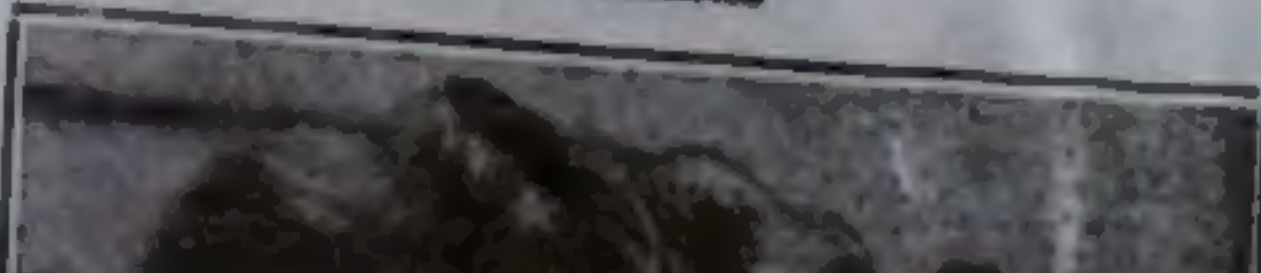

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS
Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Enclose $2 in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap it carefully) and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 75 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

HEAVY LOSS IN HAMILTON FIRE

with several aged people covered by ropes from lofty windows.

The fire broke out at midnight and soon after all the occupants had been taken to safety the fire had spread throughout the structure. Hundreds of spectators crowded on streets carried out their rescue work. Some elderly occupants were lowered out of windows by ropes.

LANDLORD MAY ASK MONTHLY TENANT TO MOVE ON MONTH'S NOTICE

There seems to be an impression, which has existed for a long time, that a landlord may not put out a tenant during the winter time," remarked Magistrate James H. Campbell recently in trying a case. "This is erroneous for there is no such law. A landlord may ask a monthly tenant to move on a proper month's notice any time."

Mrs. Ellen Fry had had a charge against Le Roy Pearl, her landlord, for shutting off her water, light and heat under the section that a landlord must supply a sufficient quantity of wholesome water. She lives in a Queen street flat.

Pearl's defence was that he had given the woman, who is on relief, three notices to leave, commencing in September last. She had been in the place two years the 27th of this month.

"You, of course, wanted to get rid of this tenant, so you had a right to do," said his worship.

People know they are climbing down; they are taking a low rate but they are safeguarding their capital. That desire for a probably a greater factor in their country.

It would be better for the country would arrive at the stage where would once again take their money and put it out to do a work. That is actually the confidence we need right now.

Inspection that is more than usually exacting, and the recent test, were presumably a part of this highly efficient system. The papers turned in by the patrolmen, who were seeking to qualify for higher positions, contained some howlers as good in their way, as any of the schoolboy variety. For instance, the following, which were vouchered for by the secretary of the police commission:

Question: What would you do in case of a race riot?

Answer: Get the number of both cars.

Question: What is sabotage?

Answer: Breaking the laws of the Sabbath.

Question: Name an act that would constitute reckless driving.

Answer: Driving without regard to the Presbyterian on the street.

Question: What first-aid treatment would you give to a person having an epileptic fit?

Answer: Take him to a doctor and have the bite treated.

Question: What are rubies and what would you do for them?

Answer: Rubies are Jew prices and I would be very glad to do anything I could for them.

Question: To what extent may an officer use force in effecting an arrest?

Answer: Use good common sense, and if not capable, common help.

Wintering Rees

Rees must be well wintered. Putting them through the cold days with nothing but syrup made of soap and water maintains life but it does not build vitality and reserve as does the genuine and natural food — honey. It is false economy to save money and feed crops at the expense of the bee.

The quality of honey is of major consideration. It off a reliable and built a market in honey and eats and keeps competition. This can be obtained by close supervision and care at the time of straining and bottling.
